three-year leave for studying post-graduation provided they will work for next five years after passing from the post-graduate degree, and, if not that provision, whether Government itself could make a second provision. The Government would sponsor the candidate and may, during the three-year period of post-graduate course, make it on-pay roll. So, these are the things that again we have sent to DOPT and we will examine them. Meanwhile a Committee under former Health Secretary, Mr. Chaudhary, has been formed to have more of the recommendations because this is not only a problem of existing doctors for the post-graduation, but we have a problem of doctors leaving the services and going away to foreign countries or other services. So, a comprehensive recommendation has been required from the Ministry and the Committee has been formed and the Committee would submit its recommendations soon. Once, the recommendations are submitted, we will take all steps to give more incentives to doctors to remain in the services.

PROF. P. J. KURIAN: Sir, my second supplementary is: post-graduation for doctors should not be equated with post-graduation in other fields because doctors are dealing with our lives. Therefore, I would like to know whether the Minister would take up this matter again and ensure that doctors are given leave required for studies.

DR. ANBUMANI RAMDOSS: Definitely, Sir. I am very concerned about this issue. I will definitely take up this issue with the Department of Personnel and Training at personal level.

PROF. P. J. KURIAN: Sir, I express my thanks to the Minister for the good answer.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Question Hour is over.
